Spotlight On:
Mike Herron

The Amercanex Community

The Amercanex family believes in giving back to the community where we live and work. Our President Mike Herron volunteers with the Midnight Mission, Relay for Life and Toys for Tots Drive. CEO Steve Janjic serves on the board of J-Cap, a drug and rehabilitation and treatment facility in Queens. Legislative VP Elaine Geller is a Board Member for the American Cancer Society, while Marketing VP Lisa Hopkins is Treasurer for her daughter's soccer team and volunteers for school activities. And Communications Director Erica Reilly offers pro bono services for first responder families, and serves as a Historic Commissioner in Westtown Township.

The holidays are a time to reflect on the previous year, count our blessings and offer our time and resources to those less fortunate. Consider how you can make a difference today.

Technology News

The Technology Department continues to code and test code for the ACE Marketplace 2.0 version, which is set to launch shortly. The updated version will contain updated software, functionality and trading features.

The team has also been working with ancillary business partners, such as laboratories, transportation, seed-to-sale and licensing databases, to strengthen our network of connectivity in the cannabis industry.

These partners have become part of the Amercanex infrastructure and technology community. As the cannabis industry's reputation has grown, our partners are gaining financial and institutional backing.

The ACEPay e-Wallet solution, which Amercanex is rolling out, will allow members to store, send and receive money safely and securely from anywhere in the world. e-Wallet connects directly to your bank, giving members a safe and secure way to store and transfer funds.

A Message from the CEO

What a ride it's been, with so much more to come. As of today, medical marijuana is currently legal in 29 states and the District of Columbia. The overwhelming support for legalized marijuana was heard throughout the nation, as California, Nevada, Massachusetts and Maine will join Colorado and Washington to support recreational use.

This emerging industry brings with it unique challenges and opportunities. As the government and regulatory agencies look to create ways to oversee the industry, our technology has stepped up to offer tracking and taxation capabilities. We've seen the market and what it needs, which is why we're excited to offer ACEPay, our e-Wallet solution to the cannabis industry.

This new frontier is exciting, demanding and inspiring. Every day, we're presented with something new. Thanks for being along with us on this incredible journey.

Regards,

Steve Janjic, Amercanex CEO

A New Amercanex.com

After a lengthy overhaul and redesign, Amercanex is pleased to announce the launch of our new website. The newly designed site features enhanced functionality, current pricing, updated features and a streamlined feel.

The site features our new logo and branding, names of strategic vendors and partners, as well as information about the banking and regulatory measures we take to ensure security and compliance within the industry.

Please take a minute to look through the website to see what we've changed and where Amercanex is heading. As the cannabis industry continues to grow at such a record pace, we're excited to be have been one of the first companies to recognize, capitalize and expand the cannabis market.

Government & Regulatory Affairs

Steve Janjic, Amercanex CEO, and Elaine Geller, VP of Legislative Affairs, were invited to serve on a panel hosted by the law firm of Greenspoon Marder PA. The seminar featured representatives in the corporate, legal, finance and real estate fields.

Steve and Elaine explained the current cannabis industry and the challenges facing companies conducting business under state regulations. Steve spoke about banking and finance, while Elaine discussed government regulation and the differences between legalization and decriminalization. Greenspoon Marder is a national law firm that recently announced the expansion of their cannabis law practice.
